

Study Cost of Raising Income Tax Exemption

By Dick Jackson

OTTAWA, Oct. 4.—Pencilia being this morning in the finance and revenue departments with statisticians figuring out the cost of doubling the personal income tax exemption levels requested of the Dominion government by the Episcopal Assembly of Quebec.

COST TO THE DOMINION of doubling the exemption levels, estimated by the statisticians, is something to spare by the $447,000,000 surplus already in the first five months of the fiscal year.

Even yesterday was the first time the church publicity has been in the state its views on such a politically live field as government financing, members of the Dominion cabinet were so startled they could hardly believe it had happened.

For the bishops of Quebec and of Eastern Ontario to take a stand on a subject "so far removed" from their ecclesiastical interests, was without precedent.

WITH HALF the Liberal party's strength in Parliament coming from Quebec, the voice of the politically-potent bishops would be difficult to ignore.

Cost to the Dominion treasury of Finance Minister Abbott's tax cuts estimated in his April budget and made operative in July, was $11,000,000.

Cost of raising personal income tax exemptions to pre-war levels, he has estimated, would be "more than that" $175,000,000.

Such a raise — from $750 to $1,000 for single persons and from $1,500 to $2,000 for married persons — statisticians today estimated would run about $200,000,000.

TO FURTHER raise the exemption levels requested by the assembly of Bishops— from $750 to $1,500 for single persons and from $1,500 to $2,000 for married persons—might "cost" the treasury an additional $100,000,000.

For the full doubling of the exemption, the treasury's loss would reach some $400,000,000, which if charged against the five-month surplus, still would leave a "profit" of $45,000,000.

Doubling of the exemption rates for the individual taxpayer would make a tremendous difference to all those now subject to assessment.

All married persons below $2,000, and all single persons under $1,500 would be exempt, and the total of Canadian tax-payers would be roughly from some 2,000,000 to less than 1,000,000. "Much less," estimated one government actuary.

The married man with no children, earning $2,000, pays $70. The same individual making $2,500 pays $170 and at the $3,000 level his tax is $270.

On doubled exemption rates they would pay nothing. The married man with no children, earning $2,500 pays tax at current rates of $270. A doubled exemption would reduce his tax to $70.

At $4,000, the married man with two children currently pays $430. If the first $3,000 of his income were exempt, his tax would be only $30.

All figures cited this morning by the departmental statisticians.

years or more ago. The school cost just $28,000. Mr. Turner feels that a similar structure today would cost at least $200,000.

There are now 45 public and high schools operated by the Edmonton school board, with properties valued up in the millions.

The old Queen's Avenue school was built only after some spirited objections on the part of Edmonton's early taxpayers.

"It is an out of town" creek-side building, there was talk of an injunction to stop such "reckless expenditure."

ACTUALLY there was nothing but bush between Jasper avenue and the school.

Still here and hearty at 77 years of age, Mr. Ramsay well remembers his early days at Queen's Ave.

"We were very proud of our brand new school," he says. HE HAD come from Ottawa, his first school out here being Clover Bar.

Moving into Edmonton, he was at a while at McKay Avenue school, both a public and high school.

Edmonton at the time had a population of 2,500. It is close to 120,000.

The school had about 250 pupils at the start.

Families of that early period residing here, the names of which are still familiar, included the McCraes, the Secords, McQuarries, McQuarries, Kincaids, Russ, Taylors, and many others.

Later, the first complete high school was built on property now the site of the Memorial Hall. It was known as the College Avenue high school.

MR. RAMSAY continued as principal of Queen's Avenue for three years and then resigned to enter the fur business.

Charles H. Ramsay followed Mr. Ramsay as principal, to be followed in turn by G. W. Robertson.

William Ross, K.C., well known veteran city councillor, was first principal of the new Edmonton high school. He had previously been principal of the combined public and high school.

Mr. Ramsay lived at that time in a house on the site of the present C. Woodward Ltd. department store. The Gratiot lived close by in an old house that still stands behind the Royal George Hotel. All around was a bushland wilderness.

Mr. Ramsay later served for several terms on the Edmonton public school board and was chairman for one term.

ALL YEARLY reports had to go to the Northwest Territories capital at Regina.

The old Presbyterian church was used as a temporary public school building for a period as was the old Masonic Hall on 102 street.

Mr. Ramsay was last principal of the old school.

AS EARLY AS 1924 the school was moved to its present site on 102 street.

Canadians Must be Careful To Keep Warm During Winter

By The Canadian Press

Canadian householders given a reasonable share of the breaks and exercising a degree of caution with their fuel supply, will be able to keep warm this winter.

A CANADIAN PRESS survey today revealed that fuel supplies, except to be able to meet their cooking needs, the winter but that most expected it would be a tight squeeze.

Notwithstanding the fact that few householders brooded warnings to buy winter supplies during the summer, coal dealers are bracing themselves for the avalanche of orders expected when cold weather sets in.

For those who use wood to heat their houses, dealers report that its available in large quantities everywhere but in Winnipeg and Regina. Prices for this article are up over last year.

The fuel situation was described as "tight" by distributors who feel they will be able to look after existing customers. However, prospective fuel users were warned against installing burners unless assured of a definite supply.

Prices, along with coal and wood, were up.

FOR THE ELECTRICITY and natural gas users the supply generally was thought sufficient to meet a normal demand.

The situation by cities.

Winnipeg. Fuel supply is satisfactory at present, wood is scarce, board started negotiations with the CNR for sale of the building and the property as a new railway station was to be built. The sale was finally put through and a new school constructed north of the railway tracks, still bearing the same name.

So an old Edmonton landmark soon will be seen no more. The old Queen's Avenue school house out after long and faithful service.

TODAY'S MESSAGE

By Dr. E. J. Thompson
Principal of St. Stephen's Seminary

The Choice

In the dawn of history there lived two brothers, Cain and Abel. Cain was a tiller of the soil. Abel was a keeper of sheep. Because Abel was successful, jealousy and hatred filled the heart of Cain. One day when they were far out in the country, Cain murdered his brother Abel. God just confronted Cain with the question, "Where is thy brother?" Cain tried to evade the question, saying, "I know not: am I my brother's keeper?" But that answer would not do. God held Cain responsible for his brother. Man is responsible for the welfare of his brother!

In the days of our Lord a lawyer asked the question, "Who is my neighbor?" Jesus replied by telling the parable of the man robbed, beaten and left by the side of the road who was rescued and cared for by the good Samaritan. Commending the action of the Samaritan his word to the lawyer was, "Go thou and do likewise." Man is responsible for the welfare of his neighbor.

Today the road of life is strewn with needy folk. Hungry people, homeless people, people broken in body, people tormented in mind, people sad and bruised in heart. Among them are many children: boys and girls needing homes and affection, needing care and education.

We are free to pass by on the other side: or we may extend helping hands. Jesus said, "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these ye did it unto Me." And Jesus taught that a man's eternal destiny depends upon his response to the needs of the least. Now we have the chance to help. We shall never pass this way again. It is in your power to bring comfort, and gladness, peace and hope into the lives of others. Use that power now!

It is composed of passages from these: "Three Peter said, Silver and gold have I none; but such as I have give I thee, in the name of Jesus Christ, rise up and walk." (Acts 3:6). "Christian Science brings to the body the sunlight of Truth, which invigorates and purifies." (Christian Science, p. 162).

Addition of Nfld. Would Make Canada One of Most Important Air Crossroads

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld., Oct. 4. (CP)—Entry of Newfoundland into Confederation, discussed in talks just concluded at Ottawa, would make Canadian territory one of the most important crossroads in international aviation.

The union would bring under federal government ownership the mammoth air base at Gander, Nfld., the seaplane base at Botwood, Nfld., the huge airport at Goose Bay, Labrador, and the fighter plane base at Torbay.

The Canadian bases in Newfoundland would continue to be used in trans-Atlantic flying. In Canada already are several bases from which flights to the United Kingdom are possible. During the war, bases in Western Canada and the Northwest Territories were used on flights over the North Pole to Russia. Plans have been under study for sometime for inauguration of a trans-Pacific service from a west coast base.

Canada is not unfamiliar with the Newfoundland base. The Dominion government now is operating under terms of 89-year leases the Goose Bay and Torbay airports.

Boys Make Use
Adding Machine
DARTFORD, Kent, England, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Officials at an office machinery display here were puzzled when they noticed a great many school boys were attending the exhibition. They investigated and found the boys were doing their home work on an electric adding machine.

During the war Canada operated as well the Gander and Botwood bases. Goose Bay is located near Lake Melville in Labrador while Torbay is on the outskirts of Newfoundland's capital city of St. John's. Gander is about 215 miles northwest of St. John's and Botwood is about 40 miles northwest of Gander.

The Canadian government spent $15,000,000 to works of expansion at Gander during the war and then in 1946 turned the whole base back to the Newfoundland government for $1,000,000.

During the war both Goose and Gander were used in the ferrying of bombers and other aircraft to Britain. Gander, however, became the hub of international aviation. Canadian, British, American, French, Dutch and Scandinavian air lines all use it as a trans-Atlantic refueling base. Despite this heavy traffic the base is expected to operate

Empire May Order
Help to Pakistan
LONDON, Oct. 4.—(AP)—An authoritative source said yesterday that Britain and the Dominions are considering sending an expedition of thousands of "civil humanitarian helpers" to Pakistan in answer to the new Muslim dominion's appeal for help in dealing with disease, hunger and suffering.

The same aid would be offered India, Pakistan's twin dominion. The informant said, but the Indian government has indicated it is not seeking outside assistance.

The Commonwealth relief force would comprise thousands of doctors, nurses, engineers, communications specialists and technicians of all kinds under present plans, informants said, and Canada, Australia, New Zealand and South Africa were reported taking an inventory of the manpower and the materials they might send.

A Commonwealth relations office spokesman said Britain is consulting with the four dominion governments over ways to alleviate the suffering in Pakistan, which appealed a few days ago for help because of suffering growing out of communal rioting and the care of hundreds of thousands of refugees exchanged with India.

"Only civilian, and not any military, personnel will go if the present plans are carried out," one informant said.

Government sources at Ottawa said they knew of no approach from London in connection with relief aid for Pakistan.

with an annual deficit of between $50,000 and $75,000.

BESIDES, Gander, Torbay and Botwood there are two other air bases in Newfoundland proper, one at Stephenville and the other at Argentia, both on the west coast. The latter two, however, are under 89-year lease to the United States for defense purposes only.

What their position would be in the event of confederation is not yet clear.

This Baby's Most Certain
Going to Be Proud of Dad

OAKLAND, Cal., Oct. 4.—(AP)—The telephone rang at 8:27 last night. Mrs. Harry Lavagetto dashed from her chair by the radio to answer.

"Did you hear what happened, honey?" yelled a man in New York.

"Yes, yes, I did," she said. "And these darned Brooklyn fans have ripped my clothes to pieces. They've ruined my uniform!" the man in New York yelled.

My Lavagetto said nothing. She was afraid she would cry.

Then she rushed over to the hospital to look at the baby again.

"He's going to be awfully proud of his dad," she told reporters and cameramen.

"I had been sleeping and just woke up when the announcer on the radio said 'Lavagetto batting for Stanky.' It must have been fate. And when Harry hit that double that won the game, I just sat down and had a good cry."

"What woman wouldn't?"

TLC Calls for Action On Old Age Pensions

By JOHN LEBLANC
HAMILTON, Oct. 4.—(CP)—In session for 39 days, the annual convention of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada wound up yesterday with final demands for action on workers' compensation, old age pensions and labor unionism in labor bodies.

At the same time, it heard President Percy Bengough say that the Y.C.C. never would be dominated by any political party. It was going to stay independent, the president told the 600 delegates in his closing remarks.

On workers' compensation, the Congress asked for its extension to cover all workers in Canada and to guarantee them "full earnings" when they are laid off for injuries. It also sought the elimination of waiting time before payments start.

Dealing with pensions, the Congress asked that old age pensions start at 60 for men and that married women become eligible at this age, with other women qualifying at 55. It also asked payments be increased to $60 a month plus cost of living bonus and that the amount be abolished.

ANOTHER RESOLUTION adopted called for full citizenship rights for Indians, without their giving up their collective rights in reservation property. However, the convention turned down a clause in the original resolution advocating special parliamentary representation for Indians.

FIRE PREVENTION Week

Carelessness Cause 80 Per Cent of Blazes

There are few more chilling sounds in the civilized world than the scream of the sirens as the big red-painted speeding fire-trucks send normal traffic scurrying to the side of the road during busy hours, or echo eerily through empty streets in the dark. Nearly always that sound means loss of property and all too frequently it means painful, tortured death or maiming. Thus it is not surprising that fire authorities urge that during Fire Prevention Week, which starts Monday, special attention be paid to the prevention of fire. "Fire prevention is vital to the safety of the people," an official said today.

ALWAYS WHEN FIRE strikes, there are questions asked. As the fire-engines go by it is "Where?" and then, inevitably too, "How?" and "Why?"

Fires in the country are equally disastrous. They are accompanied not by the wail of the sirens, but only by the crackle of flames and the sobs of the bereaved.

But wherever it strikes, no matter with what sound effects it is accompanied, the results are the same—shattered homes and homes, shattered homes and homes.

According to Edmonton's fire chief, James Macgregor, 80 per cent of all fires are caused by

Would Cut Losses

R. R. Moore, provincial insurance superintendent who said today the challenge presented by Canada's huge fire losses was the every individual Canadian "to exercise greater care in the elimination of fire hazards."

Mr. Moore said addressing each Alberta individual.

Attics are equally dangerous as a catchall for the "odds and ends" which accumulate around the house. There are plenty of electric wires in them and chimneys routed that way.

And there are a thousand ways to be careless about electric appliances and cords. Toasters and irons can so easily be left on as the busy housewife hurries to some other task. Or the light cord is suspended over a nail and left there.

It's an old trick to replace a burned out fuse with a piece of wire—or with a metal coin—but it's a dangerous one too.

HOW DO YOU keep your gas-line you have around the house? If you have more than a gallon of it, insurance underwriters might be a little disturbed. They would also frown on it if you were keeping it in an open container.

There's a fine line, however, to

SPORTS

HAROLD DEAN, Sports Editor

COACH CLARENCE MOHR has been busy with his Westsaskatoon Canadians at the Edmonton arena this week, only one night not figuring in the workout schedule. However, nothing admitting he has "several promising boys," Clarence just isn't talking.

As the squad now stands, Bob Goodacre of Red Deer, is the only holdover. Eddie Thomas, still eligible, is said to be headed for Washington, and Bob Gray is with Brandon Elks. Johnny Solfak is understood to be slated for the goalie berth with Winnipeg Canadians, the Chicago-sponsored junior club in the Manitoba capital.

There seems to be little doubt of the present Canadians comparing very favorably with other junior "A" teams in western Canada, for Coach Mohr has some excellent prospects. Right now it looks as if three goalies are in the running, with seven capable of defence bidding for rear-guard spots. Bruno Pasqualetti of Tatla, being the latest to check in. There also will be quite a scramble for front line positions, judging by the material on view at workouts.

Brent MacNabb is one of the boys who has been catching the eye of the railbirds. Brent, still only 16 and with four years of junior ahead, comes from Vermilion, home town of Art Weir, and his work on defence clearly reflects the advantage of good coaching. The fine hand of the former Chicago Black Hawk can be detected in the background.

Hawk Farm Teams Paying Off

WITH THE ADDING OF DICK BUTLER to the Chicago lineup, the Black Hawks have taken on a decidedly Moose Jaw Canucks-Kamloops, Canadian major, six of the present team being graduates from those two junior clubs.

Emil Francis, Ralph Natanson, Metro Prystai and Butler are all ex-Canucks, while Bill Gassay and Cy Thomas went from the Canadians. And it begins to look as if "Gopher" Auerbach, who played a few games with the Hawks last season, and Harry Groves, now with Kansas City, are just waiting around the corner for their chance in the Big Time.

Clint Smith, Wilson, Thomas, Henschel and Lovett, all former Canucks, and all familiar to Edmonton hockey fans, will be with Kansas City when the Pla-Mors take on Chicago here Monday night. And Butler, it will be recalled, comes from Delisle, home town of Doug and Max Bentley who of course will be with the Hawks for Monday night's game.

Montana Gridders Coming Next Saturday

UNIVERSITY OF ALBERTA'S GOLDEN BEARS, who supplied the surprise of the week for the Edmonton sport front, play Calgary Stampedeers today, but they'll be back at Clark Stadium next Saturday afternoon when Montana School of Mines comes for an exhibition under American rules. And it's next Saturday night that Calgary Stampedeers open the western tour with a home game with the Flyers.

That living to Nubia to Ingram play which gave the Bears their touchdown against Toronto Wednesday night, undoubtedly will become legend around Varity, and quite diversely so. It was Harry Irving who set it up, the Calgary freshman sucking most of the Toronto team over the top left before slipping the ball to Harry Hobbs. The latter made the great run, but Bill Ingram had the foresight to follow just a few feet behind, just in case he might be needed—and he was.

The Toronto boys all admitted the work of the Bears was a terrific surprise. Ian Clark and Al Brown went so far as to say Alberta could score just as many points against Saskatchewan (65) as the Blues did in the first game, if the Bears played like they did here.

Phil Downie will be taking back to Toronto more than memories of his trip west. The big fellow who checks in at 215 pounds out, was tabbed "Blumphy" by some glib-tongued Husky supporter at the first game in Saskatoon. The same attack and it boiled several times during the Alberta session.

Portland Scores 1st Playoff Win

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Portland prioritized the semifinal best of seven playoff of the Pacific Coast Baseball League today, but the home team, the Portland Sea Dogs, lost to the Los Angeles 4-2, for its first win in the Angel's third, if necessary, will be played Sunday.

At Oakland, entrepreneur Vince DiMaggio drove in five runs with four hits, two of them in the eighth, as the Oakland Athletics won 5-3 from the Oakland whippersnaws San Francisco.

Packed With Drama All Way

Game Had Everything Declares Edmontonian

Harry Ornest, well known as baseball fans in Edmonton, was right on the job at Ed's Field for yesterday's sport series thriller between Yankees and Dodgers. And he has written another story of the game for readers of THE EDMONTON BULLETIN.

—Sports Editor

By Harry Ornest
BROOKLYN, Oct. 4.—(CP)—Bill Bevens makes his home in Salem, Oregon. In the winter months and pitches for the New York Yankees in the summer. Harry Lavagetto comes from Oakland, California, and is the utility infielder for the Brooklyn Dodgers. Chances are that neither will forget the other, and neither will the 53,343 fans who were in Ed-

I know that this young man—because I saw a ball game that will go down as one of the greatest of all time—a ball game that had everything, that brought out the best in the great game of baseball and more than made up for the shabby performance of the first three games of this year's series.

WITH ONE OUT in the ninth inning Bevens needed but two more to become the first pitcher in history to pitch a no-hitter in the new ball game, but then Carl Furillo drew a base on balls, the ninth to be passed by Bevens.

Shotton sent Al Gienbro to run for Furillo and after Spider Jorgensen popped up in foul territory to McGinnis, Gienbro stole second with a belly slide and hit a four-run homer by Bevens. Bevens walked and Mikeas ran for him. Then Eddie Stanky started for the plate to hit and instead was called back, and Shotton sent in Lavegetto, because of a bad back, to hit for him. After missing a first strike, Cooke stalled a fast ball for a double off the right field wall to score two runs and even the series. Then everything broke loose.

OF COURSE the ball game was packed with drama all the way through. Bevens was constantly in trouble because of his wildness, and it was the Yankees' outfielders who saved him with a magnificent play by Lindell in the third off Robinson. DiMaggio's stirring over the shoulder one-handed shot of Hermanski's liner in the fourth, and the greatest fielding play of the series, Henrich's marvelous jumping one-handed stab off the right field wall off Hermanski in the eighth. But when he had to be the big right hander was plenty enough to win the game for the redoubtable Hugh Casey.

THE FINISH was a Merrivell if there ever was one and made certain the two clubs would return to Shotton did not know who he would pitch, but it probably will be a left hander—either Vic Lombardi or Joe Hatten. Casey, who has a hand of doing the extraordinary, just like the Lardner character, was not to be outdone. Series record by winning yesterday's ball game with but one pitch. It was his second win in as many days and put him in line for the MVP as manager of Brooklyn.

Goat of the series is undoubtedly Larry Berry. Outside of his pinch runner on Thursday he has looked very poor, especially when the Dodgers are running. He has been remarked. "The Dodgers have found out that Berry has no neck and no arm either."

The mandate for Palestine, given in 1922, called on Britain to facilitate Jewish settlement and develop self-governing institutions.

THE former Pittsburgh and St. Louis manager said "I said at the start it would be a long one and I still think it is, even though the Yankees may be a better shape because of their pitching."

Nedness to say anything were quiet over in the dressing room of the American League champions. Yankees manager Casey did not try to allow his reasons for putting Reiser on for the winning run in the sixth. "I'd like it again if it was a good win," he said. "Shea will go for us Saturday and it will be Reynolds on Shotton."

One Ringing Blow Jobs Hurter of Fame

Bevens Within Two Strikes Of No-Hitter

By Gayle Talbot

EBBETS FIELD, BROOKLYN, Oct. 4.—(AP)—Floyd (Bill) Bevens was two strikes away from a no-hit game and baseball immortality yesterday when Harry (Cookie) Lavagetto, veteran Brooklyn pinch-hitter, lashed a vicious base hit off the right field wall to score two runs and give Brooklyn Dodgers a 3-2 victory over New York Yankees in the fourth game of the world series.

In probably the most frantic inning of 34-year-old Bevens' full-throated battle, Tommy Henrich, Yankee infielder, misdirected a desperate leap into the air, but the ball thudded against the boards several feet from his glove.

THIS WAS THE incredible climax to a ten-play play, the game's stirring story, that ended entirely the complexion of the series.

Not only did the last batter frustrate what would have been the dream game in series history but he enabled Brooklyn, with its pitcher, to deliver a last gasp that made eight key snafus off three Brooklyn pitchers.

After a 2-3 victory over the 29-year-old right-hander, had thwarted the Dodgers. Until he made his first start, Bevens was the prospect of being the first pitcher to win a no-hitter in the series game. As it was, he tied two other flingers, Claude Passeau and Warren Spahn, for the record in having a one-hitter.

WHAT MADE the defeat even more bitter for Bevens was the fact that he put both the tying and winning runs in the eighth inning. In all, he threw a record-breaking total of 10 walks. The last two were given away.

For the second straight game, Hugh Casey, portly Dodger relief pitcher, gained credit for the victory which deadlocked the play-off series. He threw exactly one pitch with the bases full of Yankees and one out in the eighth inning. Henrich whacked a double play, and Casey tossed a back hit.

LAVAGETTO, reserve 110-pounder, gained credit for the victory as he welcomed by his teammates as he trotted back across the diamond after a 2-3 frames against the Cardinals and Eddie Mikis, both pinch-runners, stood across the plate for ahead of Henrich's throw-in.

Bevens, after watching Lavagetto's hit, saw the ball turn and frugged off the field a furious fighter. He owned the distinction of having pitched more innings than any man ever before in a world series game.

Red Buffing of the Yanks had a no-hitter going in the first game of the '42 series when he pitched 10 innings. It WASN'T entirely Bevens' fault that the winning run crossed on Lavagetto's larry. Mikis was on by virtue of Yankee strategy.

Pete Reiser, when the young defender was running, had been sent intentionally after Gienbro, who had scored on the 3-1 count. Of course, Bevens might have pitched the game.

THE Teenie Weenies noticed that Skippy the chipmunk and Ginky were spending a great deal of time with each other. The Teenie Weenie Policeman warned Skippy to watch out for the tricky mouse.

"He's a smart one," the Policeman hinted. "He has no more honor than a weasel."

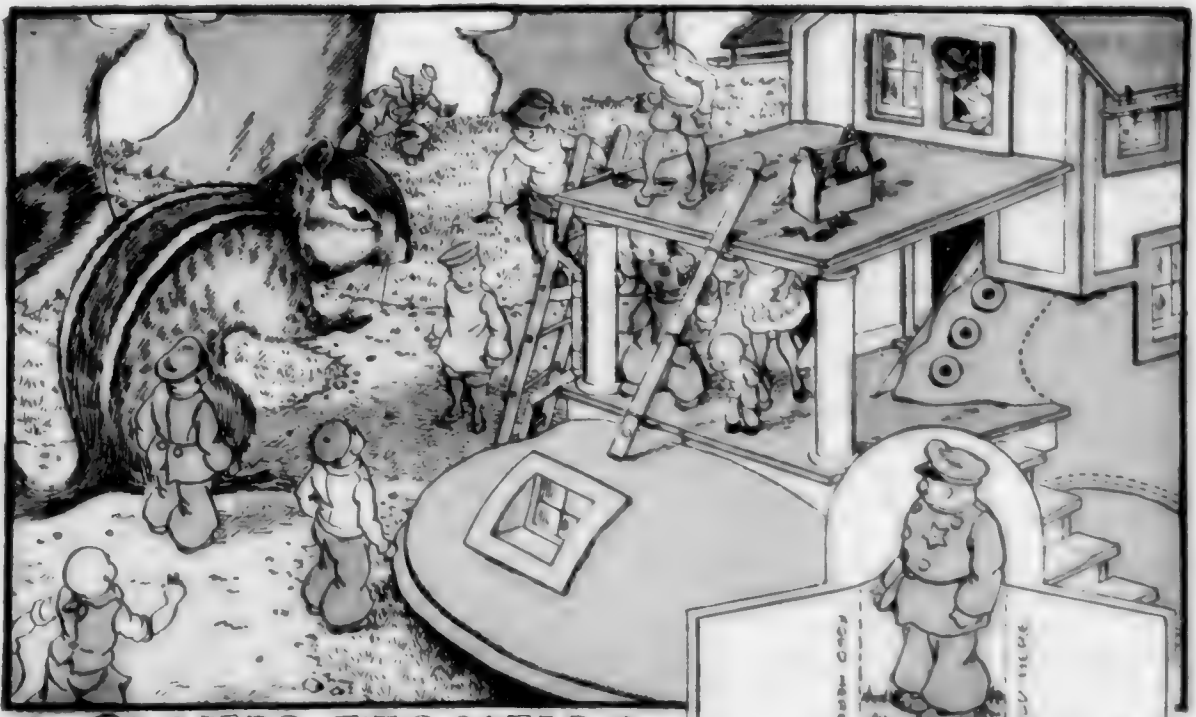

The two respectable mice came right out and boldly told the chipmunk that Ginky was a downright thief, but Skippy paid no attention to the various warnings. Being such a friendly and kind-hearted little fellow, the chipmunk couldn't believe any harm of Ginky. So the two animals went on being very close friends. Indeed, it was reported to the Teenie Weenies that Ginky had gone to live right in Skippy's hole, which was under an old stump near the Teenie Weenie village.

"They're thicker than varnish in a sand pile," Tilly Titter, the English sparrow, told the Teenie Weenies.

"Give Ginky a little time and he'll soon wear out his welcome," the Policeman told Tilly. "I know Skippy will get tired supporting that lazy mouse."

The Policeman's words proved true, for the Teenie Weenies heard one day that there had been a falling out between the chipmunk and the mouse. Of course the Teenie Weenies were too polite to ask what spoiled this friendship, but one day they heard all about it from the chipmunk himself.

One morning the Turk and the Dunce were putting a new water spout on the roof of the front porch when Skippy came along and stopped to visit.

CUT ME OUT

During the visit, the Dunce tactfully mentioned Ginky's name and Skippy flew into a rage. His whiskers trembled to the very ends, his tail jerked and the bristles fairly stood out on his ears as he burst into ear-splitting chatter. The Teenie Weenies can understand much of the chipmunk talk, but Skippy was so excited the little men could not make out a single word. His cheek pouches were stuffed with wild cherry seeds, too, and that didn't help his diction. Finally the Chinaman, who understands animal and bird talk better than most of the other Teenie Weenies, came along. He questioned the chipmunk and then translated Skippy's remarks.

Skippy say Ginky all time lazy," reported the Chinaman. "He all time eat and sleep. He no help get seedies and nuties. Just eat nuties all time. Skippy no like that, but he really get mad when Ginky steal many nuties which he carry off to mouse and friend. Skippy stick Ginky out then. Skippy say he all time have no uses for mouses."
